

Feeling as free as a bird for once... If there's one way to feel free, to let go, even to dive into a dream world, it's with a book. Reading lets us dive into completely new worlds, lets us float into completely different perspectives. Forgetting the stress of everyday life and at the same time giving us a feeling of well-being. Just like a bird feels in its nest, 'BookBird' is meant to make its readers feel exactly this way of being at home. Meanwhile, immerse yourself in another world and feel as free and at peace as a bird does, whether in the air or in its nest. Meanwhile, it gives nature a new function. A function that makes you want to go outside, that makes you really feel our pure nature.

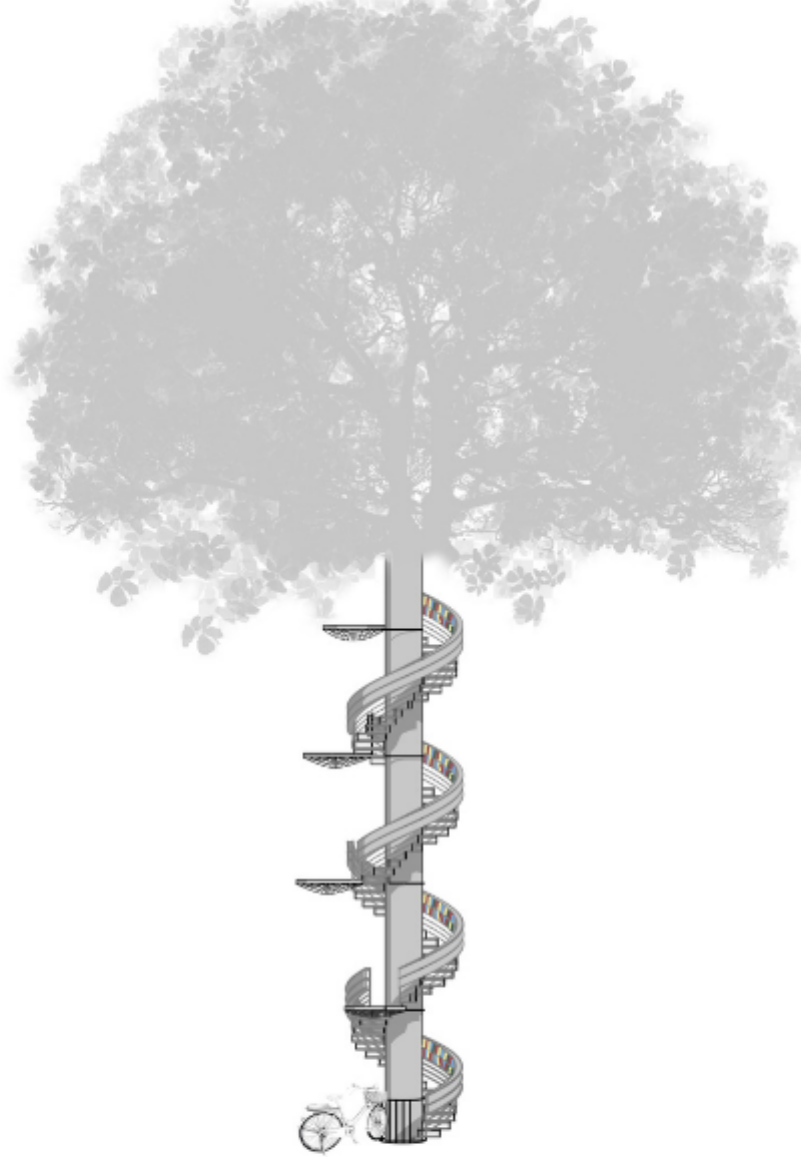

Book Bird

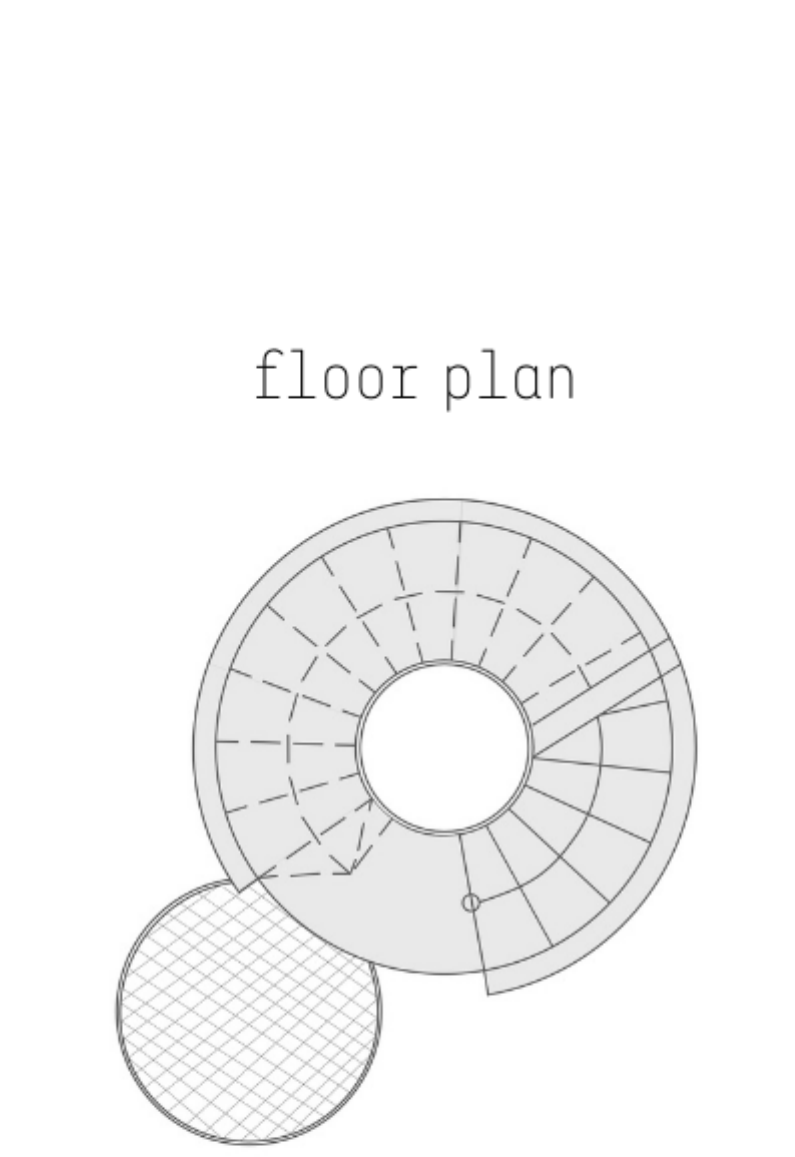

top view

section

elevation

floor plan

Rosenheim Mangfallpark

Close to the city center is the meadow area, which runs along the river 'Mangfall' and invites at best for a walk. In addition, there are several possibilities to eat and drink and a children's playground. Pure nature, calm & peaceful. To chill here with a book in a little nest can only make u win.

Rosenheim Luitpoldpark

The small but cute park is characterized by its "quaint" old trees. Just outside the city center, the park offers plenty of green space and seating. The perfect atmosphere to lose yourself in the depths of a book. Meanwhile, children can have a great time on a versatile playground or grab a book themselves.

ride

read

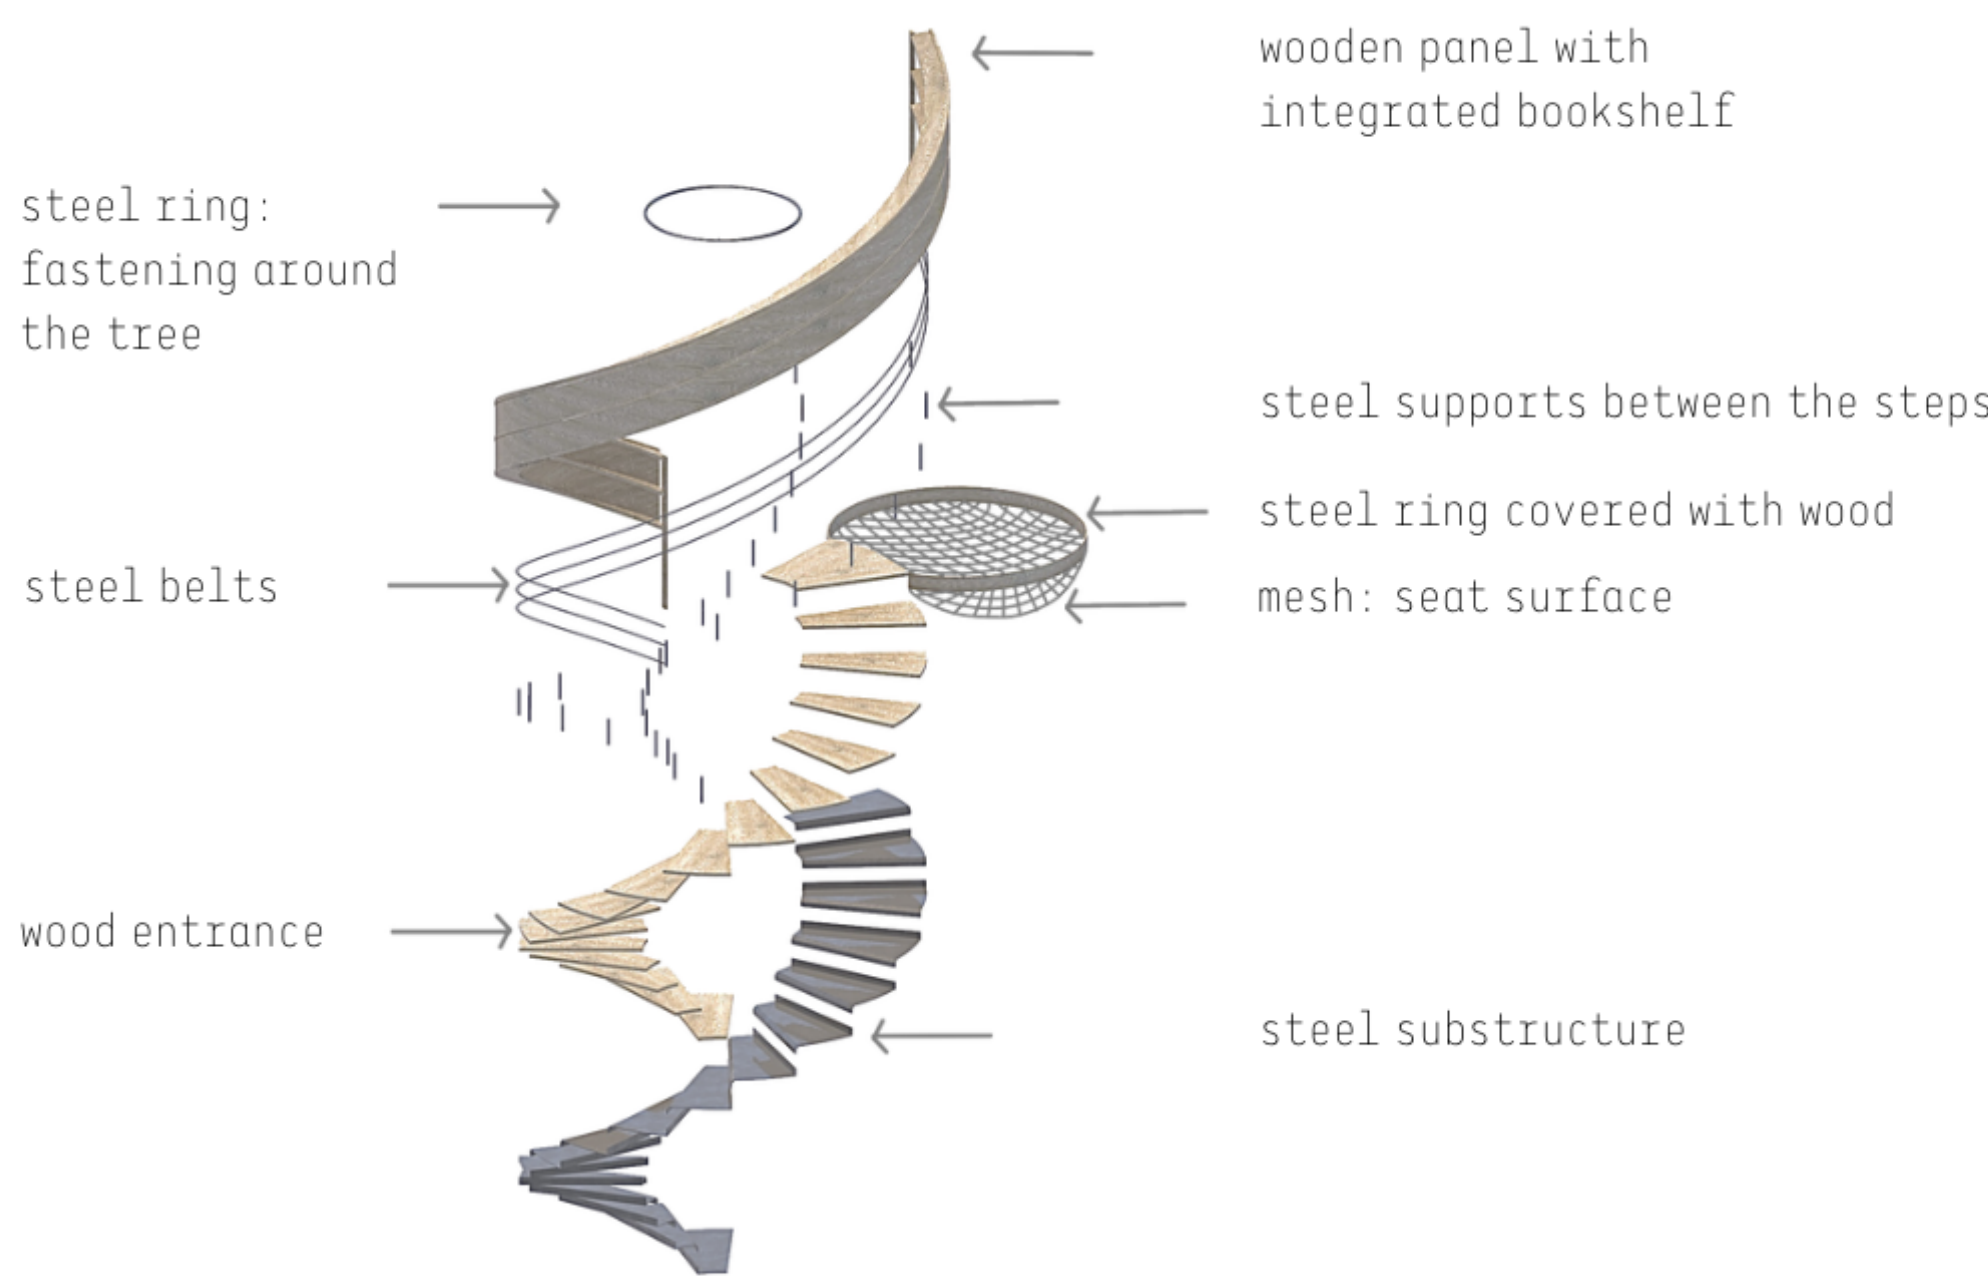

relax

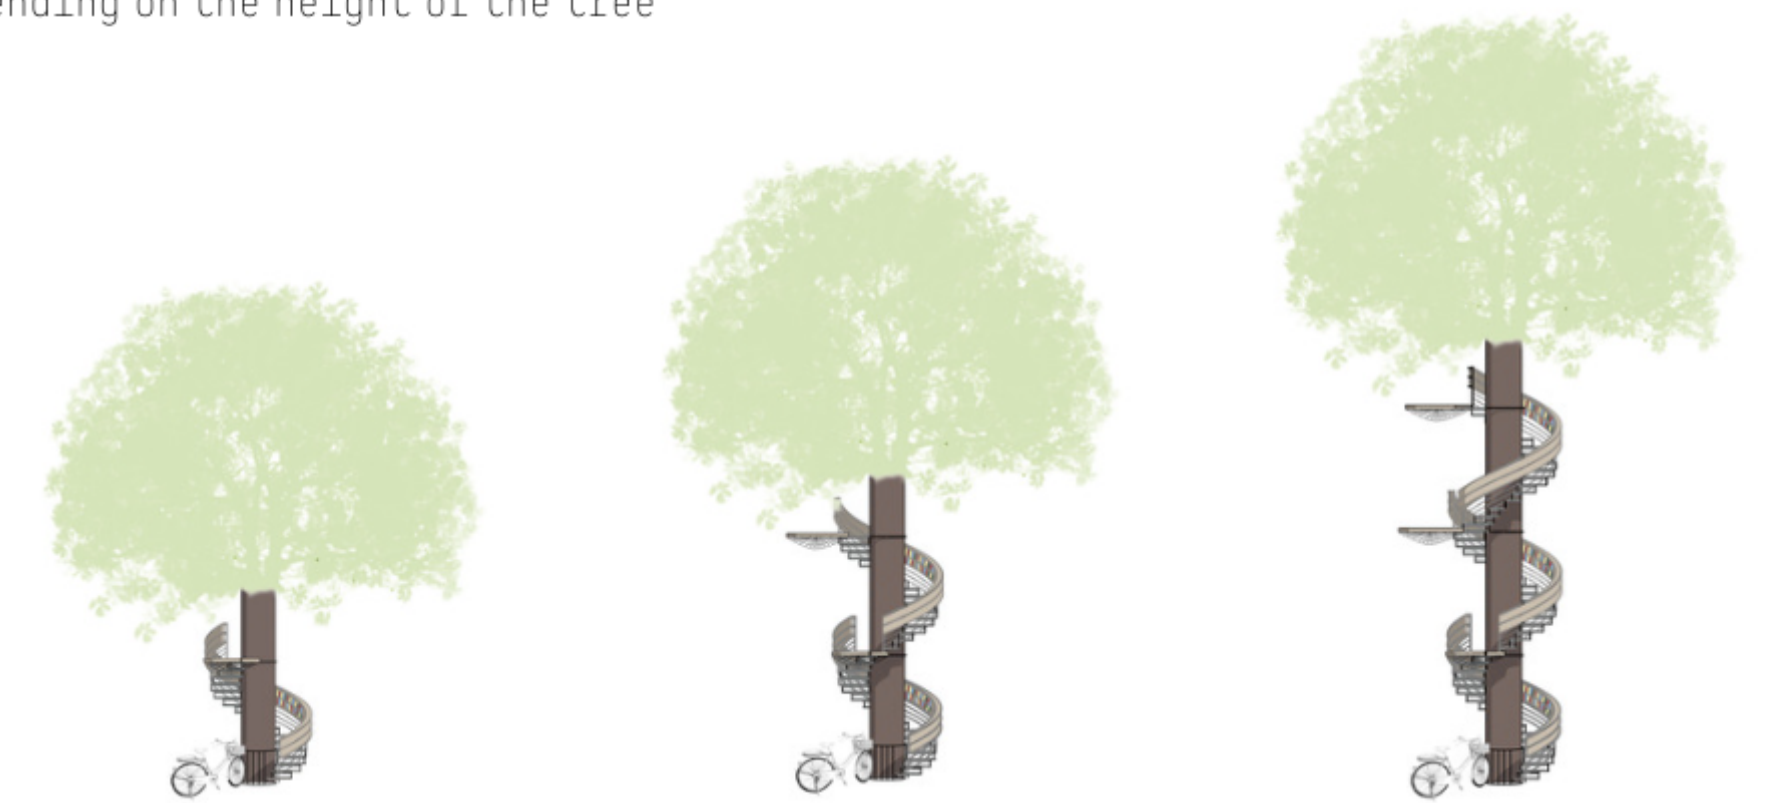

recharge

material & construction possibilities of modular variations depending on the height of the tree

Rosenheim Mangfallpark

Rosenheim Luitpoldpark

