

CONTEMPORARY PERSPECTIVES ON FATHERHOOD

CONFERENCE & WORKSHOPS

with a special focus on Arab-German perspectives on fatherhood in Berlin

12 September 2023
9:30 - 15:00

Register before 24 August 2023
Participation is free of charge

Prof. Dr. Johannes Huber

What does "good enough fathering" mean? – Insights from international fatherhood research

Prof. Dr. Katja Nowacki

Attitudes of young men with and without migration history towards gender and LGBTI: implications for policy and pedagogy

Larissa Kokonowsky

How forced migration shapes transnational family practices: The case of Ukrainian refugee women in Berlin and Munich

ABOUT US

The Arab-German Young Academy of Sciences and Humanities \(AGYA\) is based at the Berlin-Brandenburg Academy of Sciences and Humanities (BBAW) in Germany and at the Academy of Scientific Research & Technology (ASRT) in Egypt. It was established in 2013 as the first bilateral Young Academy worldwide. With members and alumni in 17 Arab countries and Germany, AGYA enjoys strong relations in various research ecosystems, promoting and supporting Arab-German research exchange and North-South-South cooperation.

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The conference aims at exploring the relationship between paternal engagement and indicators of family dynamics, setting the focus on families that recently migrated to Berlin. With this focus, the project partners analyze how fathers relate their experiences of migration, adaptation, as well as experiences of cultural difference and commonality to their understanding of fatherhood.

AT A GLANCE

- ✓ Understanding Arab-German perspectives on fatherhood
- ✓ Exchange about the needs and wellbeing of displaced and transnational families
- ✓ Facilitating interdisciplinary exchange at the interface of science and society

This conference is organized by AGYA member Prof. Dr. Sascha Hein and the team at the Freie Universität Berlin. Find out more about our research at: <https://tinyurl.com/AGYAFather2023>

REGISTRATION

📧 To register, please email: o.hassoun@fu-berlin.de

Please register before 24 August 2023. The main language of the event is English; some discussions may be in German and/or Arabic.